

CASTME Web Forum

An Introduction

The majority of the pages on the CASTME Forum have excellent on screen prompts and so this document serves only to familiarise the new user with the layout of the main pages encountered when entering the Forum for the first time.

The forum is reached via a conventional html link from the CASTME main website www.castme.org . The first page that the user will see is shown below.

Important.

When registering for the first time please ensure that you fill in all fields on the registration form marked with an asterisk, otherwise your registration will not be accepted.

Entering an Existing Discussion

The existing discussion topics are listed in the centre of the screen in chronological order (the most recently added topics being at the top). Simply click on the relevant title to select a topic, or if you wish to add a new topic, click on the New Topic link and follow the on-screen instructions.

To read any reply, click on the subject of the reply in the left of the bottom table. This will move the reply into the top part of the screen where you can read it and reply to it, if you want to, by clicking on the Reply button. If you have not already logged on or registered, the system will prompt you to do so at this point before allowing you to post your reply. Follow the on-screen instructions to register and post your reply.

Message Format

The Forum is for text postings only and does not permit the use of html or image files.

Further Guidelines

- You are advised not to post personal details such as telephone numbers, email or postal addresses on this forum.
- Postings that the moderator considers inappropriate for whatever reason may be removed without notice.
